BUTTERS

128 SEK

*BOOZY, ROUND, CAMELL

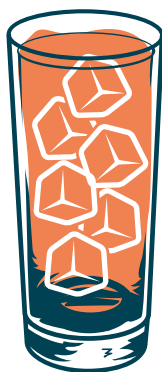

Butters has already become a Barabicu modern classic. Butterinfused rye, vanilla and muscovado sugar binds together in this very booze forward but still gentle drink. The inspiration for this drink, is maybe the cocktail of all cocktails, the Sazerac. Which has it's origins in a pharmacy in the French Quarter were a pharmacist made brandy cocktails for his friends with his homemade, stomach remedies called Peychauds Bitters.

POP MY CHERRY

128 SEK

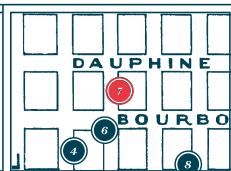

*SOUR, REFRESHING, FRUITY

Although the origin of the French 75 cocktail is debated, there are few places that are so affiliated with a cocktail as Arnauds Restaurant in New Orleans. The French 75 can be made in several different ways, with congac or gin, straight up or build tall. To pop the cherry for our first new menu we choose to make our twist with gin and add a hint of cherry.

MIDSUMMER 136 SEK

* PINK, FLUFFY, DESSERT

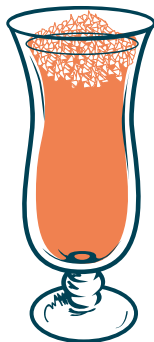

If you ever had strawberries and vanilla ice-cream after dinner on midsummer eve, you know exactly how good this drink tastes. The Ramos Gin Fizz should according to the classic manners be shaken for 12 minutes, hence a bartenders worst nightmare. In some bars in New Orleans it actually got so bad they started to hire young shakerboys with no task other than standing backstage and shaking Ramos'. We decided to make it even worse for ourselves adding a fresh strawberry and vanilla.

MURK AND MOISTY 136 SEK

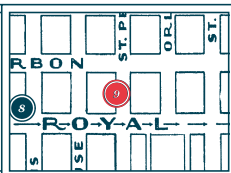

* FRUITY, THIRST-QUENCHING

The Hurricane was invented after World War II during a whiskey shortage when bars had to buy six boxes of the less popular spirit, rum for each box of scotch. To rid themselves of the vast amounts of unwanted rum they made fruit punch with different kinds of rum and a confidential ingredient, passionfruit.

OLD BLOCK 4 LIFE 136 SEK

*BOOZY, ROUND, CARAMELL

Started as inside joke, the expression "Old block for life" quickly escalated and became frequently used in the Barabicu bar, so of course we had to make a Vieux Carré twist and put it on our list.

Vieux Carré is french for "the old quarter" and the cocktail is named after just that in New Orleans. Just like the original, our version is a very aromatic, potent and spirit-driven cocktail but using Velho Barrerio Cachaca as one of the main ingredients.

GEORGIA MINT CRUSTA 128 SEK

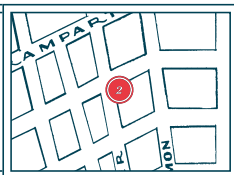

*SWEET N' SOUR, TASTY, FRUITY

This drink is actually a hybrid of two of our bartenders favorite cocktails the Georgia Mint Julep and the Brandy Crusta. Served in one of our most beautiful glassware this bourbon based drink with hints of mint, peach and Aperol is probably also a really good matchup for the Whiskey Sour addict.

ROFFIGNAC 128 SEK

*RASPBERRY, EASY TO DRINK

Because of an untranslatable ingredient this cocktail was, for a long time, a lost cause and non recreatable. However very recently a german language expert and cocktail enthusiast was able to solve the linguistic puzzle of the lost ingredient, raspberry shrub...The curiosa makes this actual classic cocktail new even to the most traveled cocktail drinker and therefore we've decided to keep it in its original form. Concocted with cognac, raspberry shrub and soda it tastes just as raspberry lemonade and is dangerously easy to drink, watch out!

RUSSIAN JULEP 128 SEK

*SWEET, MILKY, AFTER EIGHT

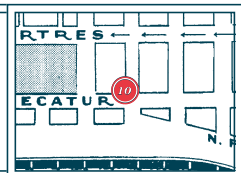

The inspiration for this drink is one of the great guilty pleasure drinks the Grasshopper, that was repopularized by the character Raj in the television series the "The Big Bang Theory". Being unable to speak to women while sober he used the Grasshopper as liquid courage, but still fell flat because of the "feminine" glassware the drink is served in. Making our twist of this drink we use a metal cup to make sure that beach greasers still can feel macho drinking this non-potent, dessert cocktail.
